

IANTD, the International Association of Technical and Nitrox Divers, is likely the largest of the agencies specializing in technical dive training. Its CEO, Tom Mount, was a pioneer in the fields of Cave and Technical Sport Diving.

This agency offers a full menu of sport diving courses, including entry-level scuba, enriched air nitrox, cave and technical diving courses. They publish a magazine dedicated to the subject of nitrox and technical diving as well as offer a variety of materials and products for the technical diver.